"One of the hallmarks of a good interview is getting invited back for a second interview, and Grace often does. It has been a privilege to work with Grace on numerous books over the years as her publicist. She is simply one of the best. She knows how to engage her audience, connect with the host, and provide useful information. From a strictly selfish standpoint, I wish all my clients were as solid at communicating their message and God's truth."

- Don S. Otis -- Veritas Communications

A career missionary for more than 30 years, Grace and her husband have served in Nepal, at a year-round Christian camp on an island off Canada's west coast, and now co-direct International Messengers Canada, a missionary sending agency with 300 staff in 30 countries. They currently live fulltime aboard a sailboat in Vancouver, British Columbia. Married in 1982, they celebrate three grown kids and 14 grandchildren.

Grace Fox is a popular speaker at women's events internationally.

She inspires hope, courage, and transformation through God's Word...with a dash of adventure.
